Dear Roy:

Thank you for your generous invitation to join the Consortium in its deliberations on August 1st. I regret that prior commitments will not permit me to do so.

I've reviewed the information you sent and am much impressed by the distinguished group you intend to convene. It seems to me your selected faculty will be in mighty competent hands.

I applaud the motives underlying your program. More interest and discussion by the academic community regarding national intelligence and its role and requirements can only serve us well. I wish the Consortium great success.

Sincerely,

/s/ Bill

William J. Casey

Honorable William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Bill,

As you know, this summer the Consortium is sponsoring the first ever ten-day intensive seminar on intelligence for teaching faculty from 30 universities (we selected this group from over 600 applications). Our major objective is to assist faculty members prepare full courses or sections of courses on intelligence and also to promote academic research and study of the subject. Professors Adda Bozeman, Paul Seabury, and I will be resident "faculty" and we are inviting former senior intelligence practitioners and specialists to join us as part-time faculty.

I am writing formally to ask if you personally would be able to join us for any part of our last day, Saturday, August 1, 1981, when we consider how the academic community, as scholars and teachers, can improve U.S. intelligence, and also to make a few (or many) remarks at our concluding dinner. I'm afraid you also were the only current or former DCI or senior intelligence official that our curriculum committee selected to join in the deliberations of the last day.

I have enclosed the outline of the overall program as well as the preliminary reading list we expect each participant to have read prior to the seminar. A great deal of additional educational materials will be available at the seminar.

The seminar will be held in the very pleasant climate and surroundings of Bowdoin College near Portland, Maine (only 1½ hours from Washington). Needless to say, we would be happy to cover your travel expenses (and those of your wife) and meet and deliver you to the airport.

I very much hope you can join us in what Frank Barnett and I believe is another major step in NSIC's efforts to institutionalize all important aspects of national security education in American universities.

Sincerely,
